WARRENTON'S GOOD RACE.

Billy Oliver's Colt Picks Up 128 Pounds and Wins by a Length.

By Francis Trevelyan.

Favorites came near to sweeping the entheir card at Aqueduct yesterday. The only fallure was in the first race, when the winner, L'Alouette, was not quite as well fancied as the third horse, Zanone. Outside of this event each race was won by the first choice, and in only one instance, that of "Mike" Dwyer's Greatland, was the Invorite at odds on.

In the palmiest days of Guttenburg the advocates of the "track on the hill" used to advance the argument that the per-centage of winning favorites was an indisputable argument in favor of the honesty of the racing. That the argument was speto those who knew aught of the circumstances, and the same may be said of the current aqueduct meeting. This is not necessarily to affirm that the peralcious practice of "shooing in horses" is still popular, yet the fact remains that the previous running of horses does not seem to be much regarded where the betting is concerned, or, for that matter, so far as the running of the horses affects the issue.

Of course, it is not to be denied that absence of class in races renders form "mighty onsartin." Yet it would be hard to explain such differences of running as were shown at Aqueduct by Blarneystone, Blueaway, L'Alouette, Anagram, Swamp Angel, Dan Rices and perhaps Greatland, though in the case of the last the change of jockeys might be reckoned enough to account for much. It is always a bad sign when the ordinary, everyday bettor does not care about much else but "following the money." To do this suits mine out of ten small bettors at Aqueduct, and prices come tumbling down or go a-salling un in days, to say nothing of Mrs. Iselin and the clous was evident on the face of affairs is care about much eise but Toxom's emoney." To do this suits nine out of n small bettors at Aqueduct, and prices me tumbling down or go a-sailing up in most promiscuous and incomprehensible shion. And the lot of the man who bets at at all is best in the long run, since on m never falls the siffliction of the "long ce" that both backers and layers know ly too well at such meetings.

Warrenton's performance in the mile and sixteenth handicap was a glorious break a monotony of poor sport. Billy Oil. "Is colt had proved himself something to fithe common, but, when it came to ked him to pick up 128 pounds at the gend of a hard season and give away much as forty pounds actual weight to four-year-old, the order looked a bit too rd. He opened at 4 to 5, but since Blueway and Bona Dea were both backed, the cossion of the price to 11 to 10 was only tural.

If weak, my friend; if nervous, void of ambition and irritable, much of the sunshine has gone out of your life. There is something owing you. Health, strength and vigor are every man's in-herent right. Nervous Debility is an unbal-anced condition of the vital energy brought about by vices and vicious excesses which develop sooner or later into a train of private symptoms better discussed by correspondence or in person than through the columns of a newspaper. I am here to give the reader the benefit of my 30 years' experience as a specialist free of charge. I believe I may offer any man, young or old, profitable advice. I have treated over one hundred thousand weak men. Think of it, one hundred thousand souls swayed by my word, influenced, guided by one man's advice! A vast responsibility, but one I have gladly, have willingly faced. I knew there could be no regrets, because I gave no stomach-racking prescriptions, no drugs for my patients, but simply nature's own restorer. I am the inventor and sole introducer of the famous the weak man's great home self-treatment. It is a scientific application of the galvan'c curtent. It weighs but five ounces. Has eighteen double element cells, thumbscrew to regulate purrent, special attachment for men. Electricity instantly felt. Kept in order free of charge. You put the Belt on at night, take it off next morning. Soothing, pleasant current through the weakened parts all night long. In use over twenty years. Last year over 5,000 men gave testimonials and said I could use their names and addresses. Reader, all I ask is that you give me a chance to show what I have done. Drop in at my office to-day if possible, and consult me free of charge, and test current of Belt, or write for free book, "Three Classes of Men," which explains all, and is sent in plain sealed envelope. I may make your life brighter.
